FOREWORD

To Librarians and Book Committees:

In preparing this third revision of our "Standard Library Catalogue" we have followed closely our original idea and have issued in compact form a catalogue of some 2500 volumes to serve as a sound basis for a new library as well as a convenient reference list for those entrusted with the selection of additions to an established library. Sunday-school library committees will find the list of fiction for young people especially helpful in making up their lists of additions each year.

While the catalogues of all publishers have been consulted in the selection, great care has been taken to include only such titles as have been approved by the various library boards and state library commissions. Particular attention has been given to the selection of fiction with the view of excluding all works of an objectionable nature.

The editions referred to are in all cases the latest, and where more than one edition is published we have chosen the lowest priced of those actually adapted to library use.

The prices given are always the publishers' full list prices taken from their current catalogues and are subject to the usual discounts to libraries. Unfortunately discounts vary to such an extent that it is impossible to quote one general rate to cover all titles listed or even all of one class or all of the publications of any one publisher. However, we are at all times prepared to submit quotations upon any proposed purchases, whether selected from this catalogue or the catalogues of others.

For many years The Baker & Taylor Co. have successfully carried on a large business in library books and to-day are better able than ever to handle this class of orders. An enormous stock and a situation in the heart of the publishing centre of the country, supplemented by our complete organization, enable us to make very prompt and complete shipments. An important feature of our service is the importation of foreign publications, books printed in English being brought in duty free when ordered for the use of a public institution. We have also a department for the picking up of "out of print" and other items not readily procured. Our "want list" is sent regularly to all the large dealers in the United States, Canada and England, and we are often successful in our search for items that others have reported "not procurable." As most publishers are located in or near New York, we believe purchasers of library books will find that our service and prices will warrant their sending their orders to us.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY,

Library Department.
